STATEMENT BY LOVETT

Attorney-General Will Fight Apportionment Among U. P. Stockholders.

The Government has turned down a prepared by Judge R. S. Lovett and and hold such dividends until disposed associates to conform to the Supreme Court decision dissolving the Union Pacific-Southern Pacific merger.

Attorney-General Wickersham has notified the Union Pacific management that he will not abide by any plan for reorganization or dissolution of the Union Pacific system, which provides Pacific among Union Pacific stockhold-

His decision to that effect was announced after a conference between Judge Lovett and other representathe Union Pacific on the hand and President Tatt and Mr. Wickersham on the other and also after pecial meetings of the Cabinet cailed for consideration of this subject alone Mr. Wickersham's action is thus the action of the Administration, of the President and his Cabinet as well as of the Attorney-General.

Early Appeal to Court.

Viewing the stand of the Attorney General from the reorganizations approved by the court in the Standard Tobacco and Powder cases, the Union Pacific managers consider the new doctrine revolutionary and its effect confiscatory. In their judgment it is a doctrine that must be opposed in the interest of their security holders. For that purpose they have prepared motion papers for submission of the question to the Supreme Court. The motion will be made very soon, probably to-day. Both Mr. Wickersham and Judge Lovett desire that the court pass upon the proposition as soon as

It has been the contention of Attorney-General Wickersham that the Union Pacific stockholders are not entitled to distribution among them of the $126,650,000 Southern Pacific stock by the company for the reason that the company never had a right to buy it and has no such vested interest as was upheld in the interest of American Tobacco stockholders on the reor ganisation of that company.

Tobacco Case Cited.

In the motion papers to be presented by Judge Lovett and his associates it inevitable, as indicated by Judge Lovett's statement, that stress will be laid upon the decision in the American Tobacco case, in which the court dilated at most length upon the rights of innocent investors. In that case the court said that in the reorganization of a company adjudged a monopoly it was ssential to maintain "a proper regard for the vast interests of private property which may have become vested in many persons as a result of the acquisi tion, either by way of stock ownership or otherwise, of intesest in the stock or securities of the combination without any guilty knowledge or intent in any way to become actors or participants in spired and dominated this combination from the beginning." Wherefore it was left to the court below "to work out a compliance with the law, and without unnecessary injury to rights of private property

Doubtless it will be contended by the Union Pacific managers that "compliance with the law without unnecessary injury to the public or the rights of private property" cannot be reached executive committees of the Union Pa-cific and Southern Pacific systems, explained the situation briefly as fol. among Union Pacific stockholders is upheld, and as a corollary to this proposition that distribution of the stock

The management of course desires to comply with the law in spirit as well as letter, but insists that this can be done without the sacriwhich was affirmed by the Supreme Court, fice of any property right. In this connection reference may be made to that portion of President Taft's recent message on the trusts as follows:

because of complications arising from It has been assumed that the present outstanding mortgages, changes in plants, pro rata and common ownership in all these companies by former stockholders the American Tobacco Company with two of the trust would insure a continuance new corporations was made, but the enstock of the new corporations was companies into which the trust has by to the holders of the common stock decree been disintegrated. This is crroneous and is based upon the assumed inefficacy and innocuousness of judicial injunctions. The companies are enjoined inolved a pro rata distribution to the have different managers, directors, pur have different managers, directors, pur stockholders of the principal company.

in the history of equity jurisprudence. Mr. Wickersham's Suggestions.

The proposition to distribute the $126. 650,000 Southern Pacific stock among Union Pacific stockholders was the first thing laid before Mr. Wickersham by Judge Lovett and his associate attorneys, When it was refused, Mr. Wickersham was asked to submit a plan under which the rights of innocent stockholders could otherwise be conserved. His first sug-gestion was that the stock be offered for sale to Southern Pacific stockholders other than the Union Pacific or those parties in control of Union Pacific. By Judge Lovett and recassociates the suggestion was considered entirely impracti-cal for the reason that the offer of such a large amount of stock would depress the price and result in loss to both South-ern Pacific and Union Pacific stockholders at any time and because at the present time the money markets of this country and the world are strained to such a point that disposition of such a large block of that disposition of such a large block of stock is extremely difficult, if not im-

Wickersham then suggested that Mr. Wickersham then suggested that the stock be offered for sale pro rata among stockholders of Union Pacific as well as Southern Pacific, barring al-ways such stockholders as the Union Pacific itself and the individuals in contro of Union Pacific This suggestion could not be accepted by the management for the same reasons as pertained to the sale of the stock to Southern Pacific holders alone and also because Union Pacific stockholders, buying Southern Pacific stock, would be putting money

Moreover, the question of the rights of the common and preferred share holders of Union Pacific arose further to confound the situation. If the Southern Pacific stock is distributed among all Union Pacific stockholders, it may and will be distributed among holders of the common stock alone. That has been determined. It will be distributed as a stock dividend. But in case the stock is sold, the receipts belong to holders of the preferred shares equally with holders of common. The preferred stock is entitled to only 1 per cent. In dividends the work of the ex-officio members should devote themselves for life exclusively to the service of the nation through the work of the National Reserve. "The court of finance which I propose," said Mr. Rhoades, "is the supreme tribunal to whom the American people must entrust the financial destiny of their nation. These are the men who must be above, suspicion. It is they who will set the standard of members should devote themselves for life exclusively to the service of the nation through the work of the National Reserve.

Syndicate Plan Difficult.

In the course of the conference at Washington it was also suggested that a syndicate might be organized to take over the $126.650.000 Southern Pacific stock, but a syndicate of that magnitude would be extremely difficult of organization. The question before us is not whether the financial destiny of the native colors. tion on any reasonable terms in the preent tense condition of the national and international money markets. Finally there may be allusion in the argument to the position of the United States Steel Corporation in the event of a decision decreeing its dissolution. Union Pacific has about 25,000 stockholders and the Steel Corporation many more and it may be inquired what would be the loss of innocent investors in case the Steel Corporation, upon dissolution, were forbidden to distribute the shares its subsidiary companies among its ockholders. Altogether the Union ectic managers will bring all arguments to bear in support of the rights of security holders as enunciated in Supreme Court decisions in other trust cases and will most that the Attorney-General's opinion are there, yes, and everywhere; cost. is destructive of private property rights, baneful to the credit of the railroads and prejudicial accordingly to the best Attorney-General Issues Statement About Conferences.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18 - Attorney-General Wickersham to-night issued the following statement Negotiations have been pending for tives of the Union Pacific Railway and the Attorney-General with respect to the basis of a plan for distribution pursuant to the judgment rendered by the Supreme Court on December 2. The Union Pacific interests claimed that the stockholders of the Union Pacific Railroad were entitled to share pro rata in the sale or distribution of the stock of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company which the Supreme Court decided was acquired and held in violation of the Sherman law. "The Atterney General decimal to the court of the Sherman law." and held in violation of the Sherman law. "The Attorney-General declined to accede to this contention, although he indicated his willingness to approve a plan under which the stock to be distributed should be offered for sale to the shareholders of both the Union Pacific and the Southern Pacific companies in proportion to their respective holdings at a suitable price and under appropriate restrictions. In view of this difference of opinion a motion will be submitted to the Supreme Court to-morrow to determine and specify in the mandate which shall be sent to the lower court which shall be sent to the lower cour what rights in this regard are to be con-ceded to the stockholders of the Union ceded to the stoc Pacific Company

The announcement by the Attorney-General explains the presence in Washington of some of the well known lawyers who accompanied J. Pierpont Morgan to Government officials are concerned ietly with bringing about a dissolution the Harriman merger and a solution of the present question in such a way that actual competition will be restored between the two railroads and the con-trol will not be shifted directly from the Union Pacific itself to its stockholders.

Talcott Williams, director of the Coumbia School of Journalism, spoke at Cooper Union last night on "The Making of a Journalist." Mr Williams in his talk outlined the work of the school of which he is the head and then spent an hour answering questions.

"The only way to train a man to be a reporter," said Mr. Williams, "is to combine in every case the theory of the profession with a lot of good, hard practice Not every man is fitted to be a reporter but the only way in which we can find who are so fitted and who are not is to give the theory and then let the applica tion of it speak for itself. So one of the first functions of the School of Journalism eliminate those who are not suited is to eliminate those who are not suited for the work."

Mr. Williams said that the idea of a school for the training of reporters began with Whitelaw Reid. "Forty-two years ago," he said. "when Mr. Reid left the Cincinnati Gazette and came to New York, he made a speech in which he advocated the establishing of a school such as cated the establishing of a school such as we now have."

Most of the questions which were put to Mr. Williams at the conclusion of his talk had to do with the advisability of a newspaper's printing all the news. "Publicity." said he, "goes hand in hand with progress. Of course the publication of the details of crime may lead a few to become criminals, but it awakens in a far greater number a sense of righteous indignation which makes for better citizenship."
